

European Endurance Cup at Magny Cours (France)

The circuit of Magny Cours hosted the first edition of the European Endurance Cup. It was a 12 hours race, which was followed by 16.100 spectators. The long weekend started from Thursday, with free practice. On Friday, qualifying practice saw Gauthier Duwelz of BMRT 3D-1 Team catch the pole position with his best lap in 1'47"558 on his Kawasaki, on a slightly wet track.

Second position in qualifying for Motostand Endurance Team, at almost 2 seconds from the pole-man.

On Saturday evening, after the first 6 hours of race and 195 laps, the leader was the Motostand Endurance Team with Baptiste Regouby and Antoine Vielard, at their first 12 Hours of Magny Cours. Poleman Gauthier Duwelz did the fastest lap time in the first 6 hours of race, too, in 1'45"450, but finished the day in 5th position due to technical problems. Second place for the local team
