Tough weekend for the European Supersport Cup 600 with the second round at TT Assen, in the Netherlands, together with the FIM Supersport World Championship.

Too bad for Kyle Smith (Team Pedercini Racing), who crashed after 4 laps, and the French Xavier Navand (DK Motorsport), out at the beginning of the race.

Next round of the ESSP 600 in on 12th May at Imola Circuit, Italy.

Supermoto S2 European Championship:

Thomas Chareyre takes the first win of the season in Ottobiano

With clouds and rain falling from the sky on Sunday 14th April started the season of the Supermoto S2 European Championship at Ottobiano Motorsportpark, Italy. Despite the weather the spectators found their way to the race track already early in the morning and enjoyed the races from the grandstand alongside the track.

After a long winter break 23 riders were at the start for this first round, ready to give to the spectators some good shows.

In the S1 class TM Factory Racing rider Thomas Chareyre took a double victory, getting the overall win too. Behind the French good performance for the Italian Elia Sammartin, second at the end of the day thanks to a third and a third position. Third step of the podium for Nicolas Cousin, from France.

In the S2 Lites class it was Simon Vilhelmsen who took the overall victory, while the Junior class was won by Jannik Hintz.

Next round of the Supermoto S2 European Championship is on 18th May in Busca, Italy.
